

OLIVER BUDD'S MOSAIC CLASSES

Oliver Budd is a second-generation mosaic artist, part-time lecturer at Chelsea College of Art and one of the leading exponents of the craft world-wide. With literally hundreds of commissions to his name he brings his unique skills to his studio classes.

The courses are designed to enable the student to realise their design ideas in mosaic. From starter students to professionals all levels are catered for.

You will be able to work with a variety of different mosaics from the beautiful Venetian glass smalti including gold mosaics to the colourful and varied vitreous glass and water glass, and now Italian art glass. Marble, limestone and porcelain mosaics all add variation and texture to the work.

The results always delight the student and many are surprised at just what they have managed to create in such a short time. For a friendly, easy atmosphere and a very creative day out please book your class now.

Drinks, teaching and all materials included in price!
Please bring a packed lunch
